

French Life Along the Western Battle Front

© Underwood
and Underwood,
N. Y.

At left, French grenadiers. With their shields and metal helmets they look for all the world like Middle Age soldiers. Below, an improvised officers' quarters. At lower left hand, a legging impervious to barbed wire, invented by George Lynch, the war correspondent. At lower right hand, a Scottish Highlander

